Community Council Meets July 13

PAT STAPLES, PRESIDENT

Please join us at the Camp Washington Community Council meeting on Monday, July 13 at 7:30 p.m. at the Rec Center, 1201 Stock Street. It's an election year, so we are getting plenty of visitors and guest speakers. Of course, zoo, museum, library levies, City budget cuts, and the rec center will be discussed.

Camp Washington Gardens T-Shirt

JOSEPH GORMAN, COMMUNITY ORGANIZER

To celebrate and to call attention to the exciting greening of Camp Washington, the Community Council Garden Club is producing a new t-shirt. The shirt is being designed by AKG Studios, who also designed the very popular Doughboy shirt in 2006. The designer used the historic housing stock here in Camp as part of the design. The shirt will be printed this summer by T-Shirts by Jay, a long-time Camp Washington company.

Camp Washington Housing

PAUL RUDEMILLER, EXECUTIVE DIRECTOR

The Community Board welcomes new tenants on Henshaw into a beautiful little house. The Board also completed purchase of another house on Bates Avenue and will be working on that house.

Special thanks to the Washington United Church of Christ and the Christ for Youth group. Their "Know Sweat" project includes 35 youth volunteers from all across the country (with five adult supervisors) who are helping us clean and demo the interior of 3206 Colerain, an apartment building that we recently acquired. The group of kids are fantastic and are doing important work for the community.

Ryerson Slated to Close at End of Year

Very bad news on the local industrial front: Ryerson Steel will be shutting down its facility on Spring Grove Avenue. More details will follow.
